Message from Inspector Jo Walmsley

Happy New Year to you all.

I'm pleased to report that although we were kept busy over the Festive season, crime remained relatively low and we have had a fairly peaceful start to the new year. I'm sure many of you and your families received some nice new bikes, tools and other electrical gadgets for Christmas. Unfortunately our criminals are well aware of this so please treat this as a timely reminder to note down serial numbers, take photographs and mark your property just in case you unfortunately lose or have your property stolen and remember to update your household insurance with any high value items.

On 7th January, I was pleased to welcome a new Beat Manager to the Attleborough area. PC Andy London is no stranger to the area having covered it in a Response capacity for the last 10 years and I know he is keen to work closer with the community. Andy replaces PC Jon Turner-Evans who has moved to a specialist role within the Road Casualty Reduction Team. Jon has completed some sterling work in the area and is keen to support us in dealing with road related issues such as speeding in the future.

What is Happening In Your Area

We would like to wish you a very happy New Year!

We are disappointed to have to update you that we are still receiving reports of thefts of flowers from graves at the Queens Road Cemetery. Your Beat Managers and Response officers have deployed a number of tactics including both plain clothes and uniformed patrols in the area in an effort to disrupt and identify the perpetrator of these disgraceful thefts which are causing significant distress to families affected. If you see anything suspicious or have any knowledge please call police on 101, report via our website at www.norfolk.police.uk or you can contact Crime Stoppers anonymously.

On a more positive note, PC Wicks and PC London continue to progress the local priorities of speeding in the Attleborough area. Don't forget you can follow us on Twitter (@BrecklandPolice) and Facebook (\BrecksPolice).
